

Who We Are —

Global Meditech is a proudly Sri Lankan, entrepreneur-led healthcare company operating to international standards of quality, compliance, and professionalism. We specialize in the importation and distribution of high-quality surgical consumables and pharmaceutical products, carefully curated to meet both the immediate and evolving needs of the healthcare sector.

Our approach is purpose-driven and patient-centric. By closely engaging with healthcare professionals and institutions, we identify unmet clinical needs and deliver solutions that support better outcomes and save lives. Our portfolio encompasses a diverse range of products and advanced candidates, with focused expertise in gynecology, urology, and wound care, while extending into other therapeutic areas where we can make a meaningful difference.

As part of our unwavering commitment to advancing patient care, we continuously expand our commercial portfolio. This growth is driven through the strategic enhancement of existing products, acquisition of late-stage commercial products, and focused development of a differentiated pipeline aligned with real-world clinical demands.

We work directly with global principals and manufacturers, eliminating unnecessary intermediaries to ensure quality assurance, supply reliability, cost efficiency, and ethical sourcing—bringing trusted innovations directly to the healthcare providers who need them most.
